Dear Mr Kemp

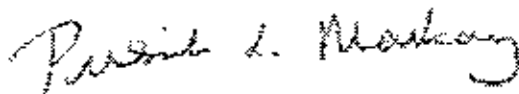

South Wiltshire Core Strategy Examination

In view of the commitment by the government to abolish Regional Strategies, projected housing numbers will be decided by the local authority in this case Wiltshire Council.

The figures suggested by the Regional Strategy were far in excess of the number of dwellings reasonably placed in South Wiltshire, both in terms of environmental and social damage and potential employment in the area.

In so far as the Core Strategy is based on figures provided by the Regional Spatial Strategy, I consider that its housing provision plans are unsound and should only be used to identify potential future sites for development as and when real local demand arises.

Yours faithfully

Priscilla L. Mackay M.A.Oxon
