

Welcome

Welcome to the May edition of the Melksham Community Campus Newsletter.

Construction progress

The ground stabilisation works were completed last month, and the foundation works are nearing completion. The pool area has been dug out ready for the concrete shell of the pool to be formed.

Upcoming Works

This week an exciting milestone was reached, the delivery and installation of the buildings steel frame commenced.

The construction of the steel frame will last for the duration of May.

All steel deliveries will be within the agreed delivery hours. There will be some larger deliveries, but we do not anticipate these causing any disruption.

At times, these works may be noisy. We have, however, installed monitoring equipment on-site to ensure noise levels remain within the permitted limits. If these limits are breached, we will be alerted, and mitigation steps will be taken.

We apologise in advance for any disruption this may cause. Wherever possible we will try and limit disruption, but when undertaking a project of this scale some disruption is unfortunately unavoidable.

If you have any concerns, please do not hesitate in contacting us.

Introducing...

Frenk Areza

Frenk has recently joined the team on site as an apprentice Site Manager for Pellikaan Construction Ltd.

Site navigation

Just a reminder that the main entrance to Melksham House is for construction traffic only. The car park remains closed for the duration of the build. Pedestrian access is also not possible, however the other pedestrian routes that cross the site remain open and are clearly signposted.

Pedestrian access to the Blue Pool and the Assembly Hall remains unaffected.

Northern boundary works

Due to unforeseen circumstances, the rebuild of the wall to the north of the site has taken a little longer than expected. We do however anticipate this work will be complete by 18 May.

The restored pillars are looking fantastic.
